Supported Living

Social care and NHS services need to identify more effective ways to integrate with housing solutions in order to deliver improved outcomes and reduce costs by working more efficiently. People with mental ill health, learning disabilities and/or autism are often admitted to hospital unnecessarily due either to a lack of community-based services that meet their needs or failure to identify deterioration in health or independence and implement prevention or early intervention strategies.

Unnecessary time in hospital is expensive and does not have a positive impact on the overall wellbeing of an individual. An integrated health, housing and social care offer is needed to meet the person's needs holistically and address underlying issues that lead to deterioration and potential for admission to hospital/residential services. ”

Who is Home Group?

Home Group is a registered charity that provides a unique mix of health, social care and housing services. As a large housing provider, we have a wealth of expertise and deliver a wide range of specialist and support services to those with complex health and social care needs.

We recognise the diverse needs communities have and have created a specialist function within our business that can work with you to support the National Health Service's commitment to improving health and wellbeing through innovative new models of care.

Our approach is to address our customers' issues by bringing care closer to home and reducing the need for more costly interventions later on.

In addition to our expertise in health and social care, we also have over 80 years experience in building homes. This includes large scale regeneration as well as individual homes and bespoke schemes.

This service is suitable for

People who need ongoing care and support due to mental ill health, learning disability and/or autism.

Our offer

Home Group Supported Living is a community wellbeing service, focussed on maximising independence in the community for people who need ongoing care/support due to mental ill health, learning disability and/or autism.

For commissioners who need to identify safe and personalised placements for these people, our supported living services provide care and support that prevents crisis, delivers improved health and wellbeing outcomes, and prevents, reduces and delays the need for more intensive interventions.

Unlike traditional care providers that simply maintain dependence, we use progression and reablement approaches to deliver a lifetime home and real choice and control.

Our expertise equals benefits

Our expertise in delivering reablement-focussed services and developing brilliant partnerships puts people first to deliver a quality home and real long term choice and control.

Key benefits include:

To commissioners;

- Cost savings compared to the cost of residential solutions
- Improved health and wellbeing – generating wider savings to the NHS through reduced unnecessary GP visits and hospital admissions

To customers;

- Better managed risk factors, crisis resolution and prevention of hospital admission - reducing relapse potential, and preventing avoidable crises.
- Improved health and wellbeing
- Increased coping skills and resilience through the interventions identified within our recovery approach; and the establishment of high quality social and support networks.
- Greater customer satisfaction and improved outcomes compared with residential care or living with parents
- Reduction of risk factors (relapse, offending, long-term institutionalisation)
